Michel Liès, Group Chairman, Zurich Insurance

"When addressing management and executive challenges, Daniel is one of those rare talents combining a focused approach with style, credibility and creativity. The solutions he then contributes to, are constructive, often innovative and - last but not least – resilient"

Philippe Regazzoni, CEO, Torare

"Daniel has been supporting me as a Coach in my personal and professional development. His open, uncomplicated and positive style is the best ground for an energetic, positive and trust-based working relationship. Based on his wide experience, his profound human knowledge, his understanding of interpersonal aspects and his respectability he has the talent to support and develop leaders professionally! Daniel's experience in this area is presumably unique." (transl.)

Christian Mumenthaler, Group CEO Swiss Re

"I have worked extensively with Daniel and have always very much enjoyed his presence and profited from his insights. Daniel has the ability to go to an office in any country, talk to multiple people at all levels and extract the essence of what is going well and what is not going well. His feedback to local management has helped them grow, and has helped me to better support them."

Simon Lehmann, CEO AJL Atelier, Member of the Board, HomeAway.com

"There are no coincidences in life! I met Daniel as true professional, straight and brutally honest management coach. His very deep experience helps him to analyze and understand many different business situations on all management levels. Daniel helps me to reflect and question challenging situations without losing the big picture."

Moses Ojeisekhoba, CEO Executive Officer Global Clients & Solutions, Member of Group Executive Committee

"Daniel's strength in quickly getting to the "real" issues will be of value to any organization. When I add to that his understanding of Asia and his ability to bridge the gap to European cultures, it does put him in a unique position to serve companies/individuals doing business across that divide."

Alain Flandrin, Member of Supervisory Board, VIG Re

"Daniel's coaching confronts you with a reality about yourself and your organization without any make-up. With his business and people experience he is fast to identify and understand any organizational dysfunction. Through open minded and challenging discussions, one of his strengths is his ability to help you to find the key to open the door for solutions. Daniel's personal and emotional engagement enables to immediately build up an affinity of trust favorable to a fertile and fruitful collaboration. I really enjoyed working with him."

Martin Albers, Chairman of the Board of Directors, MS Amlin

"Daniel has been an excellent sparring partner in developing the quality of the EMEA senior management from 2006 to 2011. Dani has given strong advice, but has also very successfully coached high potential managers. One of his strengths is to understand and adapt to different business cultural environments."

Karl-Heinz Jung, Co-Founder and Co-CEO Kacalyst Partners Singapore

"Daniel is always honest discussion partner who helps individuals finding solutions in a logical and structured way, and in a friendly and constructive spirit. He knows how organizations work and why they often don't work as planned. I enjoyed working with him."

Thierry Léger, Group CEO Scor

"Daniel has been a great personal coach to me and many others during many years at Swiss Re"

André Kunz, Member of Executive Board, OIZ City of Zurich

„Daniel is a leader and a man of action who expresses openly his opinion and puts facts in a nutshell – and the emotional intelligence to suss out individuals as well as the entire team-dynamic.” (transl.)

Robert Wiest, CEO MS Reinsurance

"Daniel is working with people in a very particular manner. The results brought back to me gave me an insight on other people's view of myself which in my professional career I never got. This was most helpful and very powerful."

Ivo Menzinger, Head Europe, Middle East, Africa & Product Management Swiss Re

"Daniel Wahrenberger has been instrumental to executive and team development across cultures in the Asia-Pacific team of Global Partnerships. He has the rare skill to win the trust of individuals very quickly. This allows him to be very effective as a coach, facilitator, and management consultant."

Alfonso Lombao Rubiàs, Head Underwriting Retail Life

"Daniel is a great professional with the ability to select and assign the best fitted talents within a firm to an emerging business opportunity/project."

Ivo Hux, Board Member Cyberion

"Daniel is an excellent talent scout constantly screening the organization and the environment for the managers of the next generation. Daniel supported me efficiently as a coach in the first phase of a new management challenge, giving honest feedback and advice in order to make the new appointment a success. He was available for discussion and exchange whenever and wherever this was needed."

Sharon Ooi, Member of the Executive Board, Hannover Re

"As an Executive Coach, Daniel was very good in challenging me to think broader and more high level as well as providing advice not only from his own career but reference stories from coaching other executives."

Tim Hodgson, Head of Human Resources, Admin Re

"I worked for Daniel for a number of years during a period of significant career progression and self-development. He took time to understand my approach and motivation then played a supportive but challenging role to ensure I was able to perform at my best. He provided an insightful perspective on a number of cultural challenges which helped to resolve issues before they materialized."
